Add 25 minutes (or more) back into your day

Your bottom-line benefit: While the length of time patients spend waiting for their primary care physicians continues to increase — it's now about 25 minutes on average — PartnerMD knows your time is precious. Here you may wait a few minutes at most, as we get you in to see your personal physician in no time. Here appointments are never rushed, and they're available on your schedule, even the same or next day when sick visits are needed. At PartnerMD, we have very nice waiting rooms. But don't plan on spending much time there.
